ADVANCE

Made by Catholic Press Association During First Year.

Welcomed to Louisville by Bishop, Mayor's Representative and Editors.

Plans Outlined For Securing a Telegraph and Cable Service.

APPROVE WORK OF THE OFFICERS

The Catholic Press Association, organized last year at Columbus, Ohio, met in this city for the second annual convention on Friday of last week, the sessions being held in the Red Room of the Seelbach Hotel. Right Rev. Dennis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville, welcomed the members of the association and visitors to Louisville, and in strong terms commended the Catholic weekly press for the noble work it was doing. He was extremely happy in his remarks, which were warmly applauded. Hon. J. W. S. Clements, representing Mayor Head, who was absent from the city, gave the convention a hearty greeting, while Rev. Father Louis G. Deppen, of the Record, and William M. Higgins, of the Kentucky Irish American, spoke for the local press. The response was made by Edward J. Cooney, of the Providence Visitor, the founder and first President of the Association.

Fifty-two Catholic publications were represented by their editors and managers, and the result of the first year of the association showed that the foundation had been laid and much done that would advance the Catholic press. President Cooney and the body got down to work at once, the utmost harmony and good feeling prevailing throughout all the sessions, which were open to the public. The first report was that of the News Bureau, submitted by Charles J. Jaegle, of the Pittsburgh Observer. Chairman Jaegle and his assistants, who were Nicholas Gonner, Rev. Peter E. Blossing, J. F. Cahill and Rev. O. T. Magrath, had given much time to the work of this bureau, and had succeeded in arranging for a reliable cable and telegraph service from Rome and a news service that would cover the United States, both of which could begin operation next month. This report met with hearty approval, and following an interesting discussion it was decided that all Catholic weekly papers be given opportunity to secure this great advantage before the contracts were finally closed. During the proceedings Archbishop Messmer and Bishop Muldoon made their appearance and after the hearty greetings accorded them spoke words of encouragement and advice, urging the editors to better work wherever possible. Before the evening adjournment William M. Higgins, Rev. John Burke, C. S. P., and Dr. Thomas P. Hart were named a committee to invite Hon. Henry Watterson to address the body on Saturday.

Person expressed regret that previous engagements prevented his acceptance of what would have been to him a great and real pleasure. Saturday the report of the Literature Bureau was received, recommending the highest standard possible. Striking addresses were made by Rev. John J. Burke, C. S. P., Rev. Father Roche and Dr. Thomas P. O'Hagan, after which the report was concurred in by unanimous vote. Lieut. Gov. Edward J. McDermott was seen to enter the room, and when called upon by President Cooney responded with a ringing address. The report of the Advertising Bureau was concurred in, and resolutions adopted sending greetings to Pope Pius X., protesting against restrictive immigration measures and pledging assistance to the social work undertaken by the Catholic Federation. Bishop Hartley, of Columbus, honorary President of the association, addressed the delegates and expressed his pleasure at the progress made, declaring that more efficient results were assured for the near future. Cincinnati, Los Angeles and San Francisco wanted the next convention, but the invitation of Archbishop Messmer to meet in Milwaukee was accepted.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary President, the Right Rev. J. J. Hartley, D. D., Bishop of Columbus, Ohio; President, Edward J. Cooney, Providence, R. I.; Vice President, the Rev. J. H. Cotter, Buffalo, N. Y.; Secretary, Claude M. Becker, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Treasurer, Charles J. Jaegle, Pittsburgh; Board of Directors, the Rev. John J. Burke, C. S. P., New York; the Rev. Edward Spillane, S. J., of America, New York, and James T. Carroll, Columbus, Ohio; News Bureau, Nicholas Gonner, Dubuque, Iowa; Charles J. Jaegle, Pittsburgh; the Rev. J. T. Kennedy, Toronto; William H. Hughes and the Rev. O. T. Magrath, Detroit; Literature Committee, the Rev. John J. Burke, C. S. P., New York; Mrs. Frances B. Sullivan-Conlon, Detroit; the Rev. Father Kinney, S. J., of America, New York; Dr. Conde Pallen, editor of the Catholic Encyclopedia, and Arthur J. Kennedy, of New York; Advertising Bureau, Edward J. Cooney, Providence, R. I.; A. H. Lyons, Cleveland; J. P. O'Mahoney, Indianapolis; and Mrs. Mary D. Finan, of Chicago.

A banquet tendered by the Louisville Convention and Publicity League at the Seelbach brought the meet to a happy close. Denny B. Good spoke for Louisville and Rev. Father Kuhlman, S. J., responded for the association. William M. Higgins and Rev. Father Deppen were also called upon, and congratulated the editors on the success of their convention, in concluding all joined in singing "Old Kentucky Home."

BOOMERANG.

Hatchet Throwing Loses Suffragettes Irish Party Support.

The conduct of the suffragists in connection with the Prime Minister's visit to Dublin has lost them the support of John Redmond and his followers. Hitherto the Irish party has been uncompromising supporters of the women's movement, and although they were aware that many of its leaders in Ireland were hostile to home rule, they supported their demands in this matter. Mrs. Redmond and her daughters gave their adherence to the movement, but their experience during the Premier's visit has completely changed their views. The Redmonds are also realizing that the hatchet-throwers are animated more by a desire to kill home rule, by discrediting the present Government, than they are to secure votes for women. At any rate, quite a revolutionary change has come over the feelings and attitude of Irish members of Parliament in the course of a few days. All who stood by the remnants of the "Ladies' Land League," founded by Anna Parnell, the sister of the famous Irish leader, were staunch supporters of the suffragist demand, but this influential support, too, is now withdrawn, and all that is left is a small section of women in Dublin and Belfast who have never had any sympathy with the national aspirations of their native land. In fact, the deeper the investigations are pressed into the hatchet-throwing the more Orangery is revealed behind the violent suffragism. It is no wonder, under these circumstances, that the friends of the constitutional rights of women are disappointed in the prospect of success for their cause. The hatchet thrown in Dublin at Mr. Aulrich is indeed proving a boomerang in effect.

HOME FOR CANCER VICTIMS.

After laboring twelve years, Mother M. Alphonsa, a daughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne, with the assistance of Sister Mary Rose and friends, has completed a new five-story building for St. Rose's Free Home for Incurable Cancer, at 71 Jackson street, New York. This structure, which is between Corleus place and East River, is having the finishing touches put upon its interior, and Mother Alphonsa is arranging with Cardinal Farley to have him bless the building at a public ceremony before the patients take possession early in October. When this home is opened the original cancer cottage of Mother Alphonsa, at 426 Cherry street, will be abandoned, and the seventeen patients and four sisters will be moved to the new building, in which there will be room for 100 victims of the disease.

FATHER YORIS' ANNUAL.

Catholics of the city are reminded of the annual picnic to be held next Wednesday at Phoenix Hill Park by Father Thomas York and the people of St. Paul's congregation, which will also be a home coming for the thousand young men and women who received their first communion in St. Paul's church. In addition to many amusements, there will be grand sucho and lotto contests with $10 in gold as the first prize. A supper will also be served, for which the ladies have prepared an excellent menu.

KEIT OPEN HOUSE.

There was no business of importance at the meeting of Mackin Council this week, but a large attendance is looked for Monday night. The boys kept open house for three days in honor of delegates and visitors to the Federation convention, who were loud in their praise of the Y. M. I. and the beautiful float that represented them in the parade.

FEDERATION

Accomplishes Much Good Work at Its Convention Here.

Intelligent Action On Questions of Widespread Public Interest.

All Pleased With Their Reception and Entertainment in Louisville.

NEXT MEETING AT MILWAUKEE

Louisville this week had the greatest Catholic gathering in its history, attracted here by the Catholic Federation convention, the most successful in the history of that body. To give in detail the proceedings would require many pages, and therefore the Kentucky Irish American can give only a summary of its work. The convention opened Monday morning in the convention hall of the Galt House with Archbishop Messmer, church dignitaries and over 400 delegates present representing all sections of the country. Archbishop Messmer delivered the invocation and prepared the congratulatory message sent the Holy Father, President Feeney and Secretary Matre submitted lengthy reports of the work of the last year and making suggestions for the future. During the afternoon able addresses were delivered touching upon social and other problems, and at night there was a musicale at the Armory attended by over 500 people.

Tuesday the convention heard recommendations for a limited divorce law, excommunications of immoral plays, books, art and advertisements, reports on Catholic educational conditions and methods, and decided to form a National League of Catholic Women. Most Rev. John Bonzano, Papal Delegate, Bishop James A. McPaul, Sioux Chief Hollow Bear Horn, Lieut. Gov. Edward J. McDermott, Father J. H. Dorsey and John S. Leahy made stirring addresses at a mass meeting in the Armory at night, when Bishop McPaul said: "A splendid example of the power of the laity was demonstrated on the streets of Louisville last Sunday, and I want to congratulate publicly Bishop O'Donoghue and the men who worked for the success of that wonderful demonstration and to say further that it will go down in history."

Wednesday was the real business day, when the following message from the Holy Father was received: "The Holy Father thanks the American Federation of Catholic Societies for its expression of filial love and sends to all assembled in convention his Apostolic blessing." A temporary organization of the Catholic Woman's League was perfected, and for forwarding the work of the Federation $10,000 was pledged. Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett and Miss Mary Corcoran, of this city, are members of the committee that will report next year. The election of officers was reported as follows:

President—Charles I. Denechaud, New Orleans.
First Vice President—Thomas P. Flynn, Chicago.
Second Vice President—J. A. Collier, Shakopee, Minn.
Third Vice President—Joseph Frey, New York.
Fourth Vice President—J. J. Flynn, Buffalo.
Fifth Vice President—James J. Regan, St. Paul, Minn.
Sixth Vice President—Dr. Peter Ganz, Louisville.
Secretary—Anthony Matre, St. Louis.
Treasurer—F. W. Heckenkamp, Jr., Quincy, Ill.
Marshal—J. W. West, Kansas City, Kas.
Color Bearer—Chief Hollow Horn Bear.

The committees named for the ensuing year are as follows: Law—A. V. D. Watterson, Pittsburgh; Judge M. F. Girtin, Chicago; Walter George Smith, Philadelphia; Judge John St. Paul, New Orleans; Joseph Fargis, New York; Francis J. Sullivan, Brooklyn; E. J. Cooney, Louisville.
Finance—Dr. F. Gaudin, New Orleans; F. P. Leonard, St. Louis; Peter Wallrath, Evansville; C. B. Kessing, Cincinnati; Richard Ennis, Pittsburgh.

Social Service—Right Rev. Bishop Muldoon, Chairman; Very Rev. Cavanagh, Notre Dame; Prof. Hagerty, Columbus; Rev. P. Dietz, Milwaukee; C. I. Denechaud, New Orleans.
Public Morals—Edward Tierney, Brooklyn; Thomas H. Cannon, Chicago; Anthony Matre, St. Louis; Rev. F. Heerman, Cincinnati.
Associate Membership—F. W. Heckenkamp, Jr., Quincy; John Whalen, New York; C. Wallace, Columbus; A. Matre, St. Louis; T. E. Doyle, Pittsburgh.

The convention was brought to a happy close with a banquet to the clergy and civil officers at the Galt House Wednesday night, when good fellowship reigned supreme. More than 1,100 guests sat down at the banquet table and Bishop O'Donoghue, with those specially invited, occupied a table on a raised platform at the front of the hall. Eugene J. Cooney presided as toastmaster and was brief in his introductions. Owing to the lateness of the hour the addresses were cut short. Bishop O'Donoghue, speaking of the diocese, commended the work of his priests and people which made the all would carry away pleasant recollections. He was also glad to be able to entertain them with the great parade they witnessed. "The Power of the Catholic Press" was responded to by John Paul Chew, of St. Louis. He addressed himself to the clergy and appealed for a more liberal support of Catholic weekly papers, causing ripples of laughter at frequent intervals. "The Parish Priest and Parish Societies" was the toast of the Very Rev. James P. Cronin, Vicar General of the diocese and pastor of St. Patrick's church. Father Cronin made only a few remarks, in which he pointed to the co-operation of priest and people which made the parade of Sunday such a success. He had words of praise for those who had given their time and made possible the great pageant.

Judge Matt O'Doherty was the last speaker and responding to "The Church and Social Order" delivered the principal address of the evening. He was given close attention and elicited frequent applause. Judge O'Doherty asserted with emphasis that "the Catholic church realizes today, as when she subdued the pagan Roman and the fierce barbarian from the North, that the real battle of civilization must be waged and won in the hearts of men and that there can be no real civilization without morality. The great truths the church teaches that have freed mankind are that society itself is of divine origin; that men may make the kinds of government they wish, be it monarchy or republic, but that God is the supreme power in the universe and demands obedience to his law. The Catholic church stands for the rights of the individual and liberty on the other. All good citizens are agreed that any man or class of men, who will seek to advance any cause, no matter how right they may think it to be, by fraud or deceit or violence are criminals and anarchists. We must seek in the church the only refuge which can instill into men's hearts the dread of such action."

WELL DONE.

Columbia Athletic Club's Reception For Visitors.

The Columbia Athletic Club's home on East St. Catherine street presented a gay scene after the parade Sunday, when a reception was tendered to the Catholic Knights of America, the Knights of Columbus and the young ladies who adorned their two beautiful floats. Supreme President Felix Gaudin and other speakers congratulated the young men of Germantown on their beautiful home and the splendid showing made, after which a light collation was served. After the departure of the visitors there was a musicale in the parlors, when a number of choice selections were rendered. The Columbia Athletic Club is a live wire organization, and it is predicted that it will not be long until the remaining debt of $3,000 on its splendid home will be entirely obliterated.

CATHOLIC BASEBALL LEAGUE.

The victory of St. Charles over St. William last Sunday practically clinched the pennant for the former, as the season closes September 15, and at the same time made the fight for second place close. The Holy Trinity team, in sixth place, is only two and one-half games behind St. William in second place. The schedule for tomorrow is as follows: St. William vs. St. Louis Bertrand, St. Anthony vs. St. Charles, St. Martin vs. Holy Trinity at Shawnee Park, and Holy Cross vs. St. Brigid at Bank Park. The standing to date:

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Thomas Ridge, who died on Friday of last week, was held Monday morning at St. Patrick's church, the interment being in St. Louis cemetery. He was a brother-in-law of Thomas Bailey, 1817 Owen street.

Monday morning Rev. Father Conniff officiated at the funeral obsequies over the remains of Marcus Dettlinger at the Church of Our Lady in Portland. For years the deceased had been a resident of that parish and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of acquaintances.

Last Saturday night death claimed Annie Marie Kippes, beloved wife of August Kippes, 1636 Prentiss street. Mrs. Kippes was but twenty-three years of age, and her demise was mourned throughout the section where she lived. Her funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Peter's church, of which she was an exemplary member.

The funeral of Ben Kupper, the well known retired grocer, took place Monday morning from St. John's church. For years he had been in business at Fifteenth and Broadway. Mr. Kupper was sixty-three years old and dropped dead of heart disease while reading a newspaper. Grief over the death of his wife three weeks ago is thought to have hastened his end.

GORGEOUS

Spectacle Presented by Monster Parade Last Sunday Afternoon.

Its Beauty and Strength Rivalled Greatest World Festivals.

Every Float and Division Portrayed Spirit of True Patriotism.

WINS PUBLIC COMMENDATION

Never before in the history of Louisville was there seen such a gorgeous and imposing spectacle as that witnessed last Sunday by the hundreds of thousands who viewed the magnificent and spectacular parade in honor of the American Federation of Catholic Societies and the high church dignitaries and distinguished visitors here from all parts of the United States. The day dawned bright and warm, and everywhere throughout the city were evidences of life and interest in the grand pageant that was soon to follow the Pontifical high mass at the Cathedral.

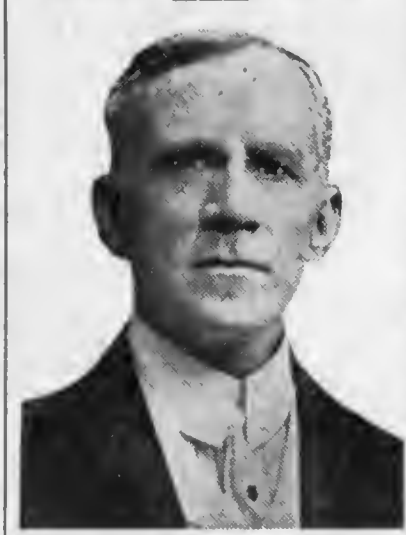

Escorted by the Knights of St. John, the Uniform Rank, Catholic Knights of America, Bishop O'Donoghue and the Papal Delegate, Most Rev. John Bonzano, arrived at the Cathedral, where a Pontifical high mass was celebrated with all the pomp and splendor of the Catholic church. The officers of the mass besides Archbishop Bonzano, the celebrant, were the Very Rev. Vicar General James P. Cronin, assistant priest; deacon of the mass, the Rev. P. M. J. Rock, pastor of the Cathedral; sub-deacon, the Rev. Mr. Wesseling, who is now a deacon of the church and shortly will be ordained a priest; deacons of honor, the Rev. Louis Ohle, pastor of St. Martin's church, and the Very Rev. T. S. McGovern, prior of St. Louis Bertrand church and convent; first master of ceremonies, the Rev. Dr. George W. Schumann, pastor of St. John's church, and second master of ceremonies, the Rev. Eugene Donahoe, assistant pastor of the Cathedral. The Cathedral was augmented by fifty voices, and the mass, and at the gospel Bishop McPaul ascended the pulpit and preached a powerful sermon. In the sanctuary and front pews were the Archbishops, Bishops, priests, Governor, Mayor and other State and city officials numbering hundreds.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the signal was given and the mounted police, commanded by Sergeant Maloney, swung into line, closely followed by Col. Colston and two companies of the First Regiment. Next came Col. John H. Whalen and staff, all of whom were attired in white uniforms and riding handsomely caparisoned horses. Then in succession came the Knights of St. John and the Catholic Knights Uniform Rank in parade uniforms, the Y. M. I., wearing the national colors, the Knights of Columbus with straw hats and blue suits covering two squares, the St. Vincent de Paul Society with white hats, Holy Trinity's men, St. Brigid's and St. Elizabeth's men all distinctive, the Columbia Athletic Club, St. Louis Bertrand's with their immense number carrying parasols and led by Father McGovern, St. Francis of Rome parish, St. Matthew's congregation, St. Martin's splendid delegation, children of St. Joseph's Orphanage, St. Aloysius and St. John's parishes, St. Agnes parish, St. Peter Claver's, St. John's, St. Elizabeth's, St. Paul's, St. Boniface, St. Michael's, the Catholic Order of Foresters, St. Andrew's Benevolent Society, St. George's church, Presentation Academy, St. Anne's, St. Columba's, St. Helen's and Holy Name all attired in distinctive manner with red, white and blue predominating everywhere. Here came Father Cronin and St. Patrick's men, followed by the Libermans in full strength and wearing green hats. A large delegation from St. Cecilia's, an imposing display from St. Augustine's and a long line from St. Charles following James Hackett and Peter O'Reilly on spirited chargers. The rear was brought up by Holy Cross congregation, which gave the whole a fitting climax. Not until after 6 o'clock did this division reach the disbanding point at Third and Broadway.

Upon all sides were heard words of praise for the discipline maintained and the precision with which every detail was executed. For this everybody gives credit to Col. John H. Whalen and Alderman Barney Campbell, who spent months in arranging for the parade, in which there was not even a single accident or unpleasant incident. According to the most reliable figures there were 21,000 men in line, with 5,000 women and children in the floats and carriages. There were 5,200 horses in the parade, which was nearly eight miles in length and was fully three hours in passing the Cathedral, where it was reviewed by the Papal Delegate, Governor, Mayor, the church dignitaries and the American Federation. But to describe the floats is almost next to impossible. As Bishop Muldoon said, "Words will not express the feeling." All were most artistic and beautiful and comparison would be superfluous. Many gave Holy Cross first place, St.

Louis Bertrand's and its lovely girls and the Catholic Knights were everywhere applauded. And so were the floats representing St. Patrick's, St. Michael's, the A. O. H. and Ladies' Auxiliary, the Columbia Athletic Club, the Foresters, the Y. M. I., Knights of Columbus, Holy Trinity and St. James, the cowboy women from St. Matthews, St. Aloysius float, the tableau of St. Joseph's and Presentation Academy, St. John's with its large golden eagle, St. Boniface float, St. Mary Magdalene's Joan of Arc, St. Ann's, St. Augustine's, St. Charles Borromeo, Father Cronin's green electric auto, the Liberty and Justice of Holy Cross and the very many others, which kept the spectators bewildered and favoring first one and then the other as they passed. This feature was added to by the hundreds of tastefully decorated automobiles and conveyances that followed the floats, which were in line with their respective societies and parishes.

PROMINENT AT FEDERATION.

FINE TRIP.

Trinity Council Excursion to Famous Mammoth Cave.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., will give an excursion to Mammoth Cave on Sunday, September 1, the round trip fare being only $5.50. This will include meals at hotel, guide fees, etc. The train will leave Tenth street station, arriving at Mammoth Cave for dinner and returning will arrive home at a seasonable hour. For the benefit of those who have never viewed this world's wonder we reproduce the following:

In the year 1809 a hunter named Hutchins, pursuing a bear, entered a marvelous cavern in Kentucky. Cave has been shown by investigation through the years to be the most remarkable cave on the American continent. It is located in Edmonson county and within the limits of this county are several thousand sink holes and about 500 open caverns. Mammoth Cave itself covers more than ten miles. The main cave extends like a deserted river bed through a succession of arches and domes for over six miles, where it is closed by a pile of fallen rocks. In the "rotunda" of this cave are found relics of old salt-petre works. New objects of interest meet one at every turn and wonderful effects are produced by the stalactites and stalagmites. The former are like great icicles hanging from the roof. They have been produced by water percolating through and partly dissolving the limestone. Each additional drop of water, hardening on the end of the stalactite, increases its length. A stalagmite is the same kind of formation, though it is built up from the floor by the drops that fall upon it from the ceiling. Sometimes these extend upward and downward until they meet, forming beautiful columns. The "Bottomless Pit" is on a terrifying scale, and extending as it does entirely across the avenue, was long an effective bar to the progress of tourists. Finally a bridge was thrown across it. Though a substantial one for the sake of perfect safety, this is renewed frequently. Leaning over the hand-rails a tourist can safely admire blazing rolls of paper as they are whirled to and fro by the guide, and then slowly sink one hundred and seventy-five feet, lighting up the wrinkles and furrows made by the torrent's flow during untold ages.

ST. ANN'S LAWN FETE.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday, afternoon and evening, a lawn fete and entertainment for the benefit of St. Ann's church will be given on the church grounds at Seventh and Davies avenue. For some time past Father Hill and his people have been working for this event and a good time has been arranged for all who attend. There have been few lawn fetes this season, and therefore many are expected. For those who wish the ladies will serve an elegant supper. The Sixth street cars will convey people to the grounds. Wednesday evening the prize will be awarded the one selling the largest number of tickets.

EMIGRANTS TO BE PROTECTED.

A Rome cablegram says it is announced there that the Pope intends to establish at Palermo a home for Italian emigrants, women and children, who are refused admission to the United States and are sent back home. It will be managed by missionaries.

BILL SAFE.

Government Is Determined to Push Home Bill to Final Success.

The Libermans Really Suffered No Great Loss in Manchester Defeat.

Resignation of Master of Ellbank Will Be Felt by His Party.

PARLIAMENT HAS ADJOURNED

With a wild whoop, the Tory papers proclaim a big victory in the Manchester election. They shout that this is the beginning of the end, demand that the Tory opposition force a dissolution of Parliament, and declare the home rule bill to be dead. This exultation is rather overdone, cables T. P. O'Connor, M. P., as the seat has been nearly always Tory and was only won in recent years by Winston Churchill's commanding personality and the dread of all the cotton Lords, Liberal or Tory, of their industry being ruined by protection. The Tory candidate was so conscious that the protection idea was an impossible barrier to victory that he denied protection, as an issue and the Tory free traders who supported him begged him to say as little as possible on the subject.

The defeat of the Libermans was anticipated from the beginning for several reasons. The first one was that the cotton Lords resent Lloyd George's heavy taxation on the capitalists and the landlords, and secondly, the insurance and still in popular, especially among the small employers of labor and with certain sections of the workmen, who object to the compulsory thrift and have been stuffed with gigantic lies by the Tory speakers. It is thought possible that Manchester will return to the allegiance with free trade at the general election. Anyhow the Libermans take the defeat quite calmly.

The other recent elections reveal no steady current against the Government. It was won, in spite of a three cornered fight, by a splendid majority and though Crewe was lost by a triangular fight, the votes for the Liberal Labor candidates, professing identically the same principles, were a majority, and the Tory member represents a minority constituency. There is no relaxation whatever in the determination of the Government to push forward the home rule bill to final success.

The Libermans are really more distressed over the resignation of the Master of Ellbank than the defeat in Manchester. His winning personality, tact, energy and shrewdness were an invaluable asset to his party. His resignation was entirely due to the necessity of providing for the members of his family, who have no fortune except a small and embarrassed estate, but the Master of Ellbank did not retire until he had made his way smooth for the maining stages of home rule and helped the Government over the last few weeks. He got all the finance and all the small measures finally disposed of before the end of this session and thus the progress of the home rule bill can not be interrupted in the autumn sittings. One of the last acts of the great whip was to fix the time table and the other terms of the drastic closure. These will be proposed within a few days of the meeting of Parliament and it is anticipated that the Tories will make a tremendous scene of stage machined disorder when these proposals are made.

Rumors are current that the Tories plan some great coup in Ulster during the month of September, though nobody can guess what they intend to do. They claim they will show that home rule is impossible, but they miscalculate English opinion. The rowdian in Belfast turned England and especially the working classes decisively and finally against them and the persecutions of English Libermans and Irish Nationalists workers in the shipyards add to the general disgust.

Parliament has risen until October, and the members have scattered in all directions to recuperate after an exciting session. No new reputations have been made, but one, at least, has come perilously near being lost—that of the leader of the opposition. In the inner circles of the Unionists the hope is often expressed that Balfour will again take the leadership of the party. This he will not do, and therefore the question of leadership remains a problem.

ANNUAL PICNIC.

Everybody should visit Spring Bank Park next Tuesday, when the annual day and night picnic of St. Michael's church will take place. Rev. Martin O'Connor and the parish committee have made perfect arrangements for the entertainment of a big crowd and will provide plenty of amusements and a great meal at little cost. Features will be a ball game between teams of the Catholic League, the lotto and euchre games both afternoon and evening and a number of novelties. Father O'Connor says they had a good float in the parade and now they will have a good picnic, to which all friends of St. Michael's are invited.

FEDERATION AND EDUCATION.

The Educational Section of the Catholic Federation convention gave much time to the consideration of educational problems, and the following report, which makes plain the Catholic position, was adopted:

"We again proclaim the inalienable right of the Catholic child to a Catholic education. We exhort all parents and guardians of Catholic children to give them the benefit of a Catholic elementary, collegiate and university training. We regard with satisfaction the progress that has been made toward the unification of all our Catholic schools in a well-articulated system based on educational principles that are in thorough accord with the sound pedagogy and the teachings of the church. To promote Catholic secondary education, we approve and encourage the multiplication of Catholic high schools throughout the country. We again insist that all schools contributing to good citizenship are entitled to equal support from the State. In view of the great number of universities and colleges already established in our country and of the widely differing religious beliefs of the diverse elements of our population, as also of the increasing burden of taxation for educational purposes, we regard the project to establish a national university, under Federal control and with Federal support, as superfluous and impracticable.

"We disapprove of the custom of holding the closing exercises of State and public schools in denominational churches. Appreciating the efforts of non-Catholics toward moral teaching based upon religious principles, nevertheless we most emphatically protest against the introduction of Bible readings into the public schools."

A BAPTIST VIEW.

The staid old Western Recorder, a Baptist local paper, has the following to say of the recent Catholic Federation:

Some ten or more years ago the long and patient efforts of the Catholic priests succeeded in welding together a Federation of the laymen. We said at that time no worse thing for this country had ever happened. Before that the German Catholics had voted the Republican ticket and the Irish the Democratic. Now they vote as a unit for whatever candidate will promise the most for the Catholic church. And they hold the balance of power in several Northern States. In the South the Catholics have voted for whatever candidates would promise the most for their church, in municipal elections. But in other elections the negro question came in. So the meeting of the Federation was held in Louisville in the hope of getting the Southern Catholics to fall in all along the line and with the hope of carrying the negro vote for whatever candidate the priests chose because he promises most. The parade was about the largest and finest ever seen in our streets.

All fair-minded citizens are sorry to see the Recorder adopting A. P. A. tendencies and turning from its own field to attack the Catholic church, and this, too, at a time when its efforts are needed so badly in holding the good old Baptist ship together, as is evidenced by the following, also taken from its columns:

The church which works one-fourth time as bad off as a business house that is closed three-fourths of the time, customarily forgets in the long intervals. One-third of the Baptist churches of Missouri are closed every Sunday. They do not seem to believe in Sunday opening. This means, on the basis of 1,600 churches, of course that more than 500 Baptist churches in Missouri are not doing any business for the Lord on Sunday. If there are 1,700 churches, the proportion is greater.

SOCIAL SERVICE.

Right Rev. Peter J. Muldoon, the able Bishop of Rockford, appealing for support for the Federation social service movement, asked the aid of the Catholic editors and said:

"The papers are speaking against Socialism, but very few tell us what to do to offset Socialism. There is a reason for Socialism. You may talk all you like about the work of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, which is a great work, and the other works of the Catholic men and women in America, but to get at the basis of this Socialist problem we must go on to the social settlements and see what is being done in these places to which our young people are going. You know that there are people in the United States who do not understand Socialism. Worse than that, they do not know the power of the Catholic church to build up the social structure. I believe we should help the poor people to better themselves. I believe in teaching poor women how to cook. Some people say they do not want it. They do want it and they are going to get it. There are plenty of women learning it at the Y. W. C. A. and in the settlement houses. Now, will you stand behind us as an association and help us to put before the people the information of what Socialism is and how it should be dealt with? Anyone can tear down a building, but it takes properly trained men to build one correctly. Will you give us your help in building up Catholic sentiment? We want to work along all social lines. * * * I am deeply interested in the social questions of this country, and this work has been neglected or has run away from us. No Bishop or priest can do it. I had a talk with a young lady who is on the public press in Chicago. She asked: 'Can't you start a national social service league for Catholic people?' Later she said: 'Don't have too much Bishop or priest in it. Those people that would get into it would save their souls anyway. Let us go out among the young people where they are going to work.' If we are going to overthrow Socialism we must attract the Socialists to us. We must show them that we can give them what they want, and yet according to the law of God. We must stand behind them. We must 'pour oil on their wounds,' and, surely there is no kinder heart than comes from the side of Jesus Christ, suffering for humanity."

STAND AS TO LABOR.

There can be no question as to the friendly attitude of the Catholic Federation toward organized labor. Here is the declaration made by the convention just held here:

"Upon the basis of Pope Leo's encyclical on labor we express our sympathy with every legitimate effort to obtain the total abolition of all unnecessary Sunday work; to obtain a living wage to enable the workers to live in frugal comfort; reasonable hours of work, protection of life and limb, abolition of child labor, just compensation in case of injury, the proper moral and sanitary conditions in the home, the shop, the mine and the factory, and we pledge our support to all legislative action instituted to this end. We furthermore sympathize with the aspirations of the workers to better their condition by organized effort in conservative trade unions, and while we sympathize with the movement for collective bargaining and trade agreements, conciliations and arbitration of industrial disputes, even with the aid of the law, we urge upon all Catholics in the organized labor movement to use all their influence against the propaganda of class hatred and any illegitimate social unrest in the trade union movement of America. We urge all possible co-operation with other institutions providing for the welfare of the more handicapped members of society, the emigrant, the colonist, the unorganized worker and the helpless. We recommend social study circles, lecture courses, conferences, institutes for merchants and mechanics and the study of co-operative movements, especially among farmers."

PREPARED.

The Government is fully prepared for trouble in Ulster, the Dublin Irish Times said Saturday. The anti-home rulers may make good their threats of revolt, the paper continues, but their revolt will not last long because preparations have been made for suppressing it with the utmost vigor.

"The preparations of the Ulster rifle clubs are being watched with the keenest interest," concludes the Times, "and conferences are being held regularly between the heads of the military, the constabulary and the officials at Dublin Castle. Military plans have been completed to cope with any emergency. Belfast has been carefully mapped out with the purpose of dealing with any disturbances there. Cipher messages are constantly passing between Dublin Castle and the Home Office."

HARRY SUCCEEDS GRANT.

Major Gen. Thomas Harry, U. S. A., Superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point, has been assigned to the command of the Eastern division, with headquarters in New York, succeeding the late Major Gen. Frederick D. Grant. Gen. Harry, who is an Irish-American and a Catholic, has an unsurpassed military record, and in army circles his promotion is pronounced the best that could be made.

The Catholic Knights and citizens of Jasper are preparing a great reception for the excursionists.

SEXTONS VS. REKERS.

If Manager Jack Hayden is looking for talent to bolster up the Louisville club during the remainder of the season he would do wise to have one of his scouts look over the talent distributed between the Sexton and Reker clubs, who are to meet for the baseball supremacy of Limerick tomorrow at Eclipse Park. O'Brien, c.; Cavanaugh, p.; Casey, 1 b.; Shelley, 2 b.; Sexton, 3 b.; O'Brien, 3 b.; Luebk, r. f.; Kelly, c. f.; Bash, l. f.; Rekere—Connelly, c.; Reker, p.; W. Hanrahan, 1 b.; O'Keefe, 2 b.; J. ## C. Y. M. N. U.

The Catholic Young Men's National Union, which holds its national convention at Buffalo the first week of next month, was organized on Washington's birthday, 1875. Its objects are the cultivation of mutual acquaintance, fraternal unity and intellectual and physical training among Catholic youth and the promotion of their spiritual and temporal welfare, especially by organized effort. For the past two years a movement has been under way to bring this and the Y. M. I. into one organization, with a national scope and on lines similar to the Y. M. C. A.

FISKE O'HARA.

Supporting him will be Miss Marie Quinn and one of the strongest companies seen in any Irish drama since the days of Boucicault. Oscar Eagle, who well remembered the staging of the "Rose of Kildare," Fiske O'Hara is a favorite in Louisville, and theatergoers will welcome him and his new play.

ORIGIN OF NOVENA.

The word novena is applied to the practice of preparing by prayer and good works for certain feasts during nine days. The first one that ever took place was after the ascension. We are told the apostles returned to Jerusalem, and in obedience to a formal command of Jesus Christ remained in the upper room with the immaculate Virgin Mary and the other disciples to the number of one hundred and twenty. They continued in prayer expecting the coming of the Holy Ghost during nine days. This practice is therefore not only apostolical but of divine institution.

MOTHER'S HIGHEST AMBITION.

The highest ambition of an Irish mother is to be a mother of a priest. To have her son stand at the altar of God and call down from his throne in heaven the Most High who will cheerfully toll her life through. Wash and iron and sew and darn from morn till midnight, what matters it when she is working for the education of that divinely chosen son? And when the year of work have passed and she stands in her rusty black, at the first mass, even the angels in heaven must envy her that joy.

REV. KELLY

Methodists Pastor Further Explains Recent Card in Louisville Herald.

Believes in Strict Interpretation of Church and State Separation.

Admires Catholic Church For Its Maintenance of Parochial Schools.

EXPLAINS VIEWS IN INTERVIEW.

The Kentucky Irish American is in receipt of the following communication from Rev. F. T. Kelley, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church at Twenty-third and Jefferson streets: "To the Kentucky Irish American—Gentlemen: In answer to your question in the Kentucky Irish American of August 17 'Has anybody here seen F. T. Kelley?' I can say that it is not likely that anybody in the crowd that asked the State for the use of its military equipment in the recent Federation parade saw F. T. Kelley. He has never been found among those that would take State funds directly or indirectly for sectarian purposes. He firmly believes in the separation of Church and State and can not understand why all citizens, both Catholic and Protestant, should not adhere strictly to this long cherished American principle. The question he raised by his request of the Louisville Herald is a political, not a religious one, and should be met frankly by all citizens. Since the Governor of the State has now set a precedent by permitting the State troops to take part in a sectarian parade, the question is now raised, shall the practice continue? Shall the Baptists, Methodists and all other denominations be granted the same favor? Hoping to see the Kentucky Irish American on the right side of this question, I remain, very truly yours, F. T. Kelley, '2318 West Jefferson street.' In answer to Rev. Kelley's question the Kentucky Irish American can truthfully say that there would not be a single objection from any Catholic if the same privilege had been accorded a Methodist, Baptist or any other church parade. In addition to the above communication, the writer paid the office a visit and while stating his views on the question of separation of Church and State frankly acknowledged that he did not know that the Protestant Bible was being read daily in the public schools throughout the country in spite of the protests of Catholics (as evidenced by the resolution adopted by the Catholic Federation). He also agreed that it was not strictly a separation of Church and State when the Men and Religious Forward Movement used the public parks for their services or when the Social Center movement uses our public schools at night for religious purposes. The reverend gentleman also stated that he had to admire the Catholic church for the efforts it made to give the children a religious as well as secular education considering the heavy burden imposed upon its members by double school taxation.

The Kentucky Irish American can truthfully state that Rev. Mr. Kelley's course in being willing to debate the question openly and frankly is more to be admired than those who resort to underhanded methods in A. P. A. organizations, and if others would follow his example in wishing to settle such questions fairly religious bigotry and intolerance would become a thing of the past among men of all religions.

BOYS THEY WANT.

There is a demand for good boys. The boy who is honest, earnest and industrious will not be long out of a job. There are lots of prosperous business men, merchants and mechanics, who are constantly on the outlook for good boys. They do not look for them on the streets, however, but in some sort of employment. They have no use for an idle boy. He is apt to make an idle man.

GREAT CARE
Should Be Exercised by Parents in Choosing
Schools.

The time is coming to choose a school for your children, if you want them to profit by a higher education. Shall it be the Catholic academy, the public high school or some private business school? Many parents, in determining this most important question, seem to think only of secular learning, type-writing, book-keeping, civics and other branches; others don't trouble to think at all, but follow the sentiment or fancy of their children. Yet there are other things far more worthy of consideration, such as the faith and innocence of your children, their surroundings, their companions, the order and discipline of the school; as these moral factors will decide the character and conduct of your children and their future happiness. Parents, the future life of your children depends on the kind of education you give them now. If you desire them to be staunch Catholics, pure and honorable in life and creditable to you, you must provide a Catholic atmosphere for them; and this you can not have outside the Catholic school. Do not endanger their faith and virtue for a petty money consideration. Their happiness and your happiness and the happiness of the family are worth the sacrifice of a few paltry dollars.

You may consider your boy or girl strong enough, on leaving the parish school at the age of thirteen or fourteen, to face any conditions of life. Well, this is a fatal mistake; for it is at just about that age that their passions are awakening and their minds are opening to the curious questions of life—when they need the fostering care and the guidance of religion all the more. Imagine a child of inquisitive mind, and of a nature open to every impression, learning lessons of life at a non-Catholic school, where religion is ignored, or mentioned only to be ridiculed or questioned. The example of companions and teachers leads him to regard religion as of little or no account, and scruples of conscience are laughed at as absurdities. Then your child begins to look upon piety as out of place, and as a hindrance to free enjoyment. He begins to doubt about the true religion, the true church, the Bible, the word of God, and the use of religious practices. These doubts always follow sinful habits and loss of innocence. By degrees the corruption of bad example, like blood poison, creeps over the heart; by degrees a change is observed in the ways and tastes of your child. And what wonder? Companions and teachers are such sociable persons; they are smart and witty and smiling, and they are free to enjoy all kinds of parties and societies and amusements. By degrees they entice your child into evil associations, until he falls fascinated by an evil genius. Thus the conditions in a non-Catholic school tend to injure and corrupt Catholic virtue and to undermine and destroy the faith.

Now our faith is a priceless treasure, and the virtue and innocence of your child are worth more than gold or social prestige. Our Catholic academies and colleges are well known to stand high in educational results, and they possess the most devoted and devoted teachers. In choosing your school, consider the future welfare and happiness of those whom God has confided to your care.

PEWEE VALLEY.
Rev. Father Boes and the Catholics of Pewee Valley and vicinity are arranging an old-fashioned country picnic and dinner for their friends, to be given at Scully's Grove, Pewee Valley, on Tuesday, August 20. Father Boes is now erecting a new church there, and the proceeds will go to help him in his meritorious work. This will afford an excellent opportunity for tired city people to spend a really enjoyable day in the country.

PRaises CATHOLIC MISSIONS.
Bishop Hadley, a Protestant missionary in his work, "Tramps in Dark Mongolia," says that one cannot but admire the self-sacrificing that places and keeps so many of our Catholic missionaries in regions where there are no social amenities to cheer them nor domestic joys to solace them. He adds it is still clear that the ideal of Nazareth and the tragedy of Calvary has power to make men equal to many otherwise ungenial tasks, and while he cannot accept the discipline of the church, he quite ungrudgingly admires the spirit that directs and sustains the lives of her missionaries.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.
The left side and front fastening is still used on the one-piece dress. With the fashionable deep collar wider girdles are apt to be worn. Many of the new long dress sleeves are set on a long shoulder line. Even when plaits are used on skirts the narrow outline is preserved. One-piece dresses of black China silk have collars and cuffs of white or black net. Some of the smartest suits being made up have fancy vests, often made separately. Serge or charmeuse street dresses show plaits in many forms; also the favorite pannels. Small quantities of metal embroidery appear on the more elaborate new fall suits. Turn back cuffs or lace trills finishing long sleeves are of the most becoming of the new fashions. Corsets are lower than ever in the bust. In fact, almost all the most recent models are practically girder tops. Many slender skirts of accordion plaits are seen in Paris. Usually they are draped nearly to the knees and fall straight below.

WORK FOR THE EDITOR.
It is said that any one can be an editor. All an editor has to do is sit at his desk six days in the week, four weeks of the month and twelve months of the year and "edit" such stuff as this:
"Mrs. Jones of Lost Creek, let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."
"A mischievous lad of Matherton threw a stone and struck a companion in the alley last Tuesday."
"John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch."
"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise home from a church social Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square."
"Isaac Trimmer was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda."
"Mr. White, while harnessing a bronco last Saturday, was kicked just south of the corner."

THIRD RAILROAD OPENS.
Bolivia's third railroad through Chile to the Pacific coast will be opened this month.

CALLED IRISH STREET.
The principal thoroughfare in Prague, Bohemia, now numbering 300,000, is called Irish street, in memory of the Irish monks who labored in that ancient and royal city.

ORANGEMEN.
Cause Great Suffering and Hardship For Belfast
People.

In spite of assurances of protection, Catholic home rulers in the Ulster shipyards and workshops are suffering great hardships at the hands of their Orange opponents. Picketing in Belfast does not concern a man's union, but his church and party, and hostility to the Catholics and home rulers is more intense than to "hickies." Over 17,000 people are said to be on the verge of starvation in this city and district through this rancorous feeling over the approach of home rule. For over a month Catholics and Liberals who would have been working on Queen's Island have been suffering, with their families, from enforced idleness because they are persecuted as traitors by the Orangemen. Scores of known home rulers have been gravely injured, mostly by being struck on the back of the head with an iron bar or other weapon, and not in fair fighting. Appeals have been sent to London for adequate protection, for the local force is hopelessly outnumbered. The Government hesitates to employ troops, except in widespread and violent disorders, lest passions are let loose that would be hard to quell, which could be pointed to by the Unionist leaders as proof of the dangers of home rule.

THE REAL THING.
On Monday, September 2, there will be an old-fashioned, all-day picnic on the big, shady lawn at the Breckel residence at St. Matthews. The proceeds will be for the benefit of Father Thomas White's new church at St. Matthews. This picnic will be given by the Clifton-Crescent Club, an organization of young church workers whose homes are in Clifton and Crescent Hill. Meals will be served on the grounds and will include all the good things of the season. There will be euchre and lotto at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and dancing in the evening. Tickets are twenty-five cents and good for games or meals. The public is invited and will be met by wagons at the end of the Crescent Hill car line.

CHAPEL FOR SOLDIERS.
Senator Johnson, of Maine, will shortly introduce a bill to appropriate $75,000 for a Catholic chapel at the Soldiers' Home at Togus. Father Neilligan, who ministers to the Catholic veterans at the home, has a promise of $5,000 to be used for the furnishing of the chapel.

ANOTHER WISS LAURELS.
Add one more to the army of laurel-crowned Catholic students educated in Catholic schools. Miss Eleanor Boyce, of St. John, N. B., was the winner in the recent high school entrance examinations. She has also the distinction of leading the province in the competition. Catholic education is always complete education.

BISHOP BYRNE.
Right Rev. Thomas Sebastian Byrne, Bishop of the diocese of Nashville, Tenn., was born in Hamilton, Ohio, July 29, 1841. When eleven years old circumstances compelled him to quit school and go to work. Before he had attained his majority he became an expert machinist. At twenty he abandoned his trade and decided to prepare for the priesthood. He attended the seminary of St. Thomas at Bardonia, Ky., and later St. Mary's of the West, graduating in 1865. Three years were spent in the American College in Rome and then he returned to Cincinnati and was ordained in 1869. For nine years Father Byrne was a professor at St. Mary's Seminary in Cincinnati, after which he became rector of St. Peter's Cathedral in the same city. He was named as head of the Nashville diocese in 1894 and was consecrated on July 25 of that year.

PRACTICAL COMMON SENSE.
The daily press is making much ado over a sermon said to have been preached by Father Hickey, pastor of St. Brendan's, Flatbush, Long Island, in which expression was given to the following sentiments:
"A girl's place is home and she should be forced to remain at home. God made woman to be the maker of the home and the mother of children. Mothers know little of their daughters' whereabouts. They seldom reprimand them for coming in late, and think it is clever of them if they are able to drink a few cocktails or a glass of beer. Every girl should know how to cook a dinner and to wash the dishes. Any girl who visits road houses in the company of young men and sits up until all hours imbibing liquors is not fit to enter the home of a respectable family. There should be no such thing as the latchkey for the younger generation."
This is good, practical common sense. Sermons akin to it may be heard many times in the course of a year from Catholic pulpits throughout the land.

NEARING THE FINISH.
More than one-eighth of the entire amount necessary for the completion of the Panama canal remains to be excavated. The total of excavation on July 1 was 173,269,815 cubic yards, leaving 23,063,564 cubic yards to be removed.

DELIGHTFUL CROQUETTES.
A scant half pound of round steak run through the meat grinder. Mix with it a cupful of bread crumbs, a small minced onion, a beaten egg and salt and pepper to taste. Form into oval balls and drop into boiling water. When they are done take them up with a split spoon and keep hot while you thicken the water with a lump of butter rolled in flour; boil up for a minute and season to taste. Pour over the beef balls. This is delightful when properly cooked.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Buffalo divisions represent 7,000 people.

The State convention will meet here Monday and Tuesday, September 9 and 10.

About 500 delegates were in attendance when the New York State convention met on Monday.

Division 4 meets Monday night. Our order was well represented in the Federation convention.

The Indiana State convention recommends the establishment of a home for aged and infirm members.

The New York Ladies' Auxiliary was represented by about 100 delegates at the convention held this week.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Choral Club will be a pleasant entertainment feature at the Minnesota State convention.

For four days this week the forty-eighth biennial convention of the New York Hibernians was in session at Watertown.

Our national convention recommended members to give their hearty support to the great Catholic press of our country.

Edward McGarry was the proudest man in the Hibernian division of the Federation parade, carrying the banner of old Division 5.

St. Paul Hibernians will have their reunion and field day September 1, with all old Irish sports and pastimes on the programme.

Over 3,000 attended the Irish day gathering of the Milwaukee Hibernians. Gov. Burke, of North Dakota, was the particular star of the day.

Indianapolis Hibernians had a great field day celebration at the State Fair grounds last Saturday. There were twenty-one field events on the programme.

The 119 delegates to the State convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary at Kokomo, Ind., re-elected Mrs. John Arthur as State President as a tribute to her great work.

The green hats worn by the Hibernians certainly made a hit along the line of march last Sunday, as they were a novelty among the thousands of white hats and caps.

The suggestion has been made that a union initiation be held during the meeting of the State convention next month. As a large class is awaiting the degrees this could be made an interesting feature.

One of the main features of the Hibernian war on Socialism will be an educational campaign among the American workmen to teach them that Socialistic doctrines are economically and socially unsound.

Milwaukee Hibernians had a great day Saturday. The lengthy programme began at 10:30 in the morning, the chief attractions being the speech of Gov. Burke, of North Dakota and the Irish folk songs and dancing.

The largest State convention in the history of Maryland was held this week in Baltimore. Delegates from all parts of the State were present and reports showed the organization to be growing and in prosperous condition.

National President Regan could not come to Louisville and therefore named ex-State President George J. Butler, State Secretary William Connelly and Magistrate P. T. Sullivan as representatives of the National Board at the Federation.

The County Board has the following committees arranged for the State convention: Hall, John J. Barry, Thomas Lawler and Dan O'Keefe; Entertainment, M. J. Cusick and Thomas Walsh; Badges, T. J. Langan, C. J. Flanagan and Thomas Stevens.

Miss Anna Mallia, Past National President; Misses Mary Corcoran and Mary Butler and Mrs. Dan Dougherty represented the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Federation this week. Miss Corcoran is a member of the committee to draft laws for the proposed Woman's League.

FOUNTAIN FERRY.

There is a big laugh in store for the patrons of Fountain Ferry Park next week. Manager Bligh has arranged a sparkling vaudeville bill, devised to furnish the brightest possible kind of diversion, with more in it for favor than many seen here this season. The Natiello band concert will be popular as usual, but will also include music of the substantial kind.

AULD LANG SYNE.

The Auld Lang Syne Club, which is composed of some of the past and present residents of Limerick of the later generation, were entertained Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. William J. Reker, being the regular quarterly meeting of the club. Those present were David J. Reilly, W. J. Connelly, S. J. McElliot, Cary B. Hines, Thomas J. Champion, William J. Chaw, John J. Winn, John D. Holland, Dr. John T. Chaw, Thomas Muldoon, John McManara and John J. Barry. A bounteous supper was served and several musical selections rendered.

ST. EDWARD'S, JEFFERSONTOWN.

Preparations have been made and everything is in readiness for the grand picnic to be given Wednesday, August 28, by St. Edward's church of Jeffersontown, of which Father Reverman is pastor. The Jeffersontown cars will run every half hour from the city direct to the picnic grounds. Refreshments of every kind will be served, but the special feature of the picnic will be the big chicken supper, which will be served by the ladies of the congregation. Only specially raised, milk-fed chickens are served on this occasion, which makes you think that there is no such thing as the so-called food trust. The doll booth, fancy work booth and the others will be in charge of young ladies, who always great you with a winning smile and help to make the picnic a grand success. So come and have a good

ALUMNAE MOURNS.

At the committee meeting of the Holy Rosary Alumnae on Wednesday, August 14, the following resolutions were passed on the death of his beloved member, Annie L. Finnegan:

Whereas, The Holy Rosary Alumnae accept with deepest regret the divine summons of the all-wise God who does all things for the best; and

Whereas, He has called our beloved sister, Annie L. Finnegan, to her heavenly reward; be it

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved family our sincere condolence, and feeling assured that her soul is in heaven we hope that she will await us all in the never ending happiness; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon our minutes as a token of our love and esteem for her, a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and be published.

Anna McDonald,
Mary Rose Kelly,
Committee.

OFFICIAL CALL ISSUED.

State Secretary William J. Connelly has sent out the call for the biennial State convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which will be held in Louisville on September 9 and 10. The County Board and divisions are arranging the programme, which will be completed next week. This convention will in all probability be the most important yet held, and therefore every division in Kentucky will be fully represented. The call is signed by Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, George E. Donnelly, P. J. Kane, W. J. Connelly and Thomas Howard, Jr.

WALNUT THEATER.

The Walnut-street Theater, renovated and splendidly furnished, one of the coolest theaters in the country, will open its season next week with the child drama "Oklahoma," a story that appeals to all. A strong company and fine stage setting will give the season a good send-off. The Walnut's new scale of prices, twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents for seats at the evening performances, for the coming season bids fair to rival the popular matinee price of twenty-five cents for any seat in the theater, and promises much for the success of this popular playhouse. For the following week a talented young actor and new Irish play will be the offering.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

Trinity Council heard many encouraging reports Monday night on the prospects for its Mammoth Cave excursion on September 1, which is an assured success. During the week many strangers visited the beautiful club house, which was pronounced a monument to the energy and business ability of the Catholic young men of the East. President Sandman says the next meeting will be full of interest and requests the presence of every member.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The death is announced of Owen Brennan, of Loughgaur.

At a meeting of the Ballyinglass branch of the Gaelic League Corporation Moynihan was appointed Gaelic teacher for the district.

Much sympathy is felt in West Limerick for Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Grady, of Ballyinglass, whose seventeen-year-old daughter Margaret died recently.

Purchase terms have been agreed to between T. Crowe, of Dromore, County Mayo, and his tenants, and the settlement of the dispute has given much satisfaction.

For running at Constable Allen with an open razor in his hand and shouting he would "go for" him with the weapon, James Shannon, of Derry was sentenced to six months imprisonment.

P. J. Fitzgerald, who was unanimously re-elected Chairman of the Glin Rural District Council, has adhered to his decision resigning membership, and the office has been declared vacant.

At a meeting of the Galway Guardians Dr. G. A. Francis, the Medical Officer of the Lettermore dispensary district, was unanimously elected Medical Officer of the Moyneen dispensary district.

The Lord Chancellor has appointed the following new Magistrates in Kerry: Thomas Lawlor, Ballymacquinn; John Griffin and John Vaughan, Tralee, and Michael O'Donnell, Castlegregory.

Much regret is felt in Granard district at the death of Thomas Cosgrave, of Granard, as the result of injuries received by a fall from his bicycle while cycling down a steep incline at Mullinroe on July 18.

The death has taken place of Mr. Michael McCullow, as well known licensed vintner in Newtownstewart. He was a born artist, and did a lot of internal decorating in many of the neighboring Catholic churches.

The contest between Omagh, Cookstown and Strabane as to which town should secure the Agricultural Institute for the Northwest counties has been settled by the department buying a farm a mile from Strabane.

Dr. J. B. Kehoe, a native of County Carlow, and for ten years Medical Officer of Bannow, County Wexford, was unanimously elected Medical Officer for the Carrigrohane dispensary district at a meeting of the New Ross Guardians.

Deep regret is felt in Athlone at the departure of the Rev. M. Kennedy, of St. Mary's, to take up the pastoral charge of Shannonbridge, Father Kennedy having during his sixteen years' stay in the town won general esteem and affection.

Genuine regret is felt by his many friends in Monaghan and especially among those in the cattle trade, at the great loss sustained by James Corr, whose wife died recently after a protracted illness. Deceased leaves a family of six to mourn her loss.

On their release from Castlebar prison, where they had undergone nine months' imprisonment for resisting the Sheriff's bailiffs, who were engaged in evicting their widowed mother, the two young Kileens received a hearty welcome at Castlebar, and were met by two hands and a large crowd. At night, on their return to Strade, they were met by a torchlight procession, and bonfires blazing on all the surrounding hills.

SERIES WITH LEADERS.

After the closing of the St. Paul series next Monday the Louisville team will play the Minneapolis and Toledo clubs four games each, and as both of these leaders are fighting hard for games just now Hayden's aggregation will have hard sailing. In spite of the many sure predictions that the Minneapolis will win the pennant it is safe to keep an eye on Columbus, who really have the best team in the league and who have just defeated Minneapolis three out of five on their home grounds. Up to August 10 out of forty-one games played previous to that date twenty-seven of that number were between Minneapolis and the three tail-enders, St. Paul, Louisville and Indianapolis, which explains why they went into the lead. Local fans hope the report is true that President Grayson has signed Manager Jack Hayden for 1913, as a fair test of his managerial ability was not given by handling the present team.

FRANKFORT'S DELEGATION.

Frankfort sent a large delegation to this city to witness Sunday's parade. Among those who came down Saturday were Rev. Father Joseph Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitehead, Miss Katherine Coleman, John Corbett, John J. King, Mrs. Peter King, Richard Tobin, Misses Lucille and Anna Tobin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Noonan, John Sower, George Salender, Misses Elizabeth and Florence Lutkemeler, Gov. James B. McCreary, Mr. and Mrs. James Heeuey, Miss Hannah Kennedy, John Brislaw, Mr. and Mrs. James Noonan. Quite a number from that city also tarried with the Louisville Knights of Columbus.

RIVERVIEW.

The continued increasing patronage of Riverview Park is an evidence that its policy and varied amusements have met with popular approval. Don Phillipps and his band have made a most pleasing impression this summer and fully vindicated a policy which affords delightful entertainment for all who visit this favorite pleasure resort. The spotless kitchen also attracts many, who are loud in praise of the service there.

FORESTS DECREASING RAPIDLY.

The forests of the United States cover about 550,000,000 acres, and are being cut away about three times as fast as they are growing.
